

Hokkaido Summer Institute

2019

July – September 2019 at Hokkaido University, Sapporo, Japan

Summer Courses offered by the

Graduate School of Letters / Faculty of Letters

Online application will be open:
February 1~28, 2019

For Further Information visit HSI website...
<https://hokkaidosummerinstitute.oia.hokudai.ac.jp/>

*Check the HSI website with this QR code!

10 Courses offered by the Faculty of Letters / Graduate School of Letters

For Undergraduate Students

U 006 Cultural Psychology Frontiers in Cultural Psychology 2019

July 1 – July 3

This course presents an introduction to a number of topics in experimental cultural psychology, as well as research relevant to some of the major problems in this field.

Takahiko MASUDA

Professor, Department of Psychology,
University of Alberta, Canada

Sawa SENZAKI

Associate Professor, Human Development and
Psychology Departments, University of Wisconsin-
Green Bay, USA

Masaki YUKI

Professor, Department of Behavioral Science,
Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Takahiko MASUDA

U 010 Coptic Culture and Language An introduction to the history and language of traditional Egyptian Christianity

July 8 – July 12

This course sketches the historical development of Coptic Christianity while focusing on phenomena that are nowadays associated in particular with the word Coptic, such as Gnosticism and Christian monasticism.

Jacques van der VLIET

Jozef M.A. Janssen-professor, Religions of Ancient Egypt Faculty of Philosophy, Theology & Religious Studies, Radboud University Nijmegen, Netherlands
Subject Specialist, Library, University of Amsterdam,
Netherlands

Ewa ZAKRZEWSKA

Associate Professor, Department of Western Literature, Graduate School of Letters,
Hokkaido University

Satoshi TODA

Jacques van der VLIET

U 015 Social Ecology Principles of Invasion Ecology 2019

July 29 – August 2

The course will cover how plants and animals become invasive, the economic, social and environmental damage they cause, and the population dynamics of invasion. This will include examples from Japan, New Zealand and around the world.

AI GLEN

Researcher, Landcare Research
(Wildlife Ecology & Management), New Zealand

Tohru IKEDA

Professor, Department of Regional Sciences,
Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

AI GLEN

U 020 Seminar in Sociology Sociology of Language: Language and Wellbeing in Japan 2019

August 5 – August 8

The sociology of language looks at social phenomena interrelated with questions of language. In this course, we focus on the role of language in the modernization of Japan. We learn that modernity has an empowering and an oppressive side.

Patrick HEINRICH

Associate Professor, Department of Asian and North
African Studies, Ca' Foscari University of Venice, Italy

Carola HOMMERICH

Associate Professor, Department of Sociology,
Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Patrick HEINRICH

U 023 Oriental History Modern Arab History

September 9 – September 13

This course on 19th and 20th century Arab history covers major events and developments such as reforms in the 19th century, the impact of imperialism and colonialism, the creation of nation states in the 20th century, current problems and the struggle for democracy.

Mohammed AAFIF

Former Professor of Higher Education, Faculty of Letters and Human Sciences, Mohammed V University,
Rabat, Morocco

Kentaro SATO

Associate Professor, Department of Asian History,
Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Mohammed AAFIF

Experience an Academic Summer at Hokkaido University

For Graduate Students

G 034 Academic Paper-Writing Workshop for Cultural and Social Psychological Journals 2019

July 8 - July 10

This course is designed to improve psychology graduate students' English writing skills for academic papers.

Takahiko MASUDA

Professor, Department of Psychology, University of Alberta, Canada

Sawa SENZAKI

Associate Professor, Human Development and Psychology Departments, University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, USA

Masaki YUKI

Professor, Department of Behavioral Science, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Takahiko MASUDA

G 088 Regional Sciences General Theory of Invasive Alien Species Management 2019

August 5 - August 9

Figure 1. The invasion curve. Adapted from Invasive Plants and Animals Policy Framework, State of Victoria, Department of Primary Industries, 2010.

The course will cover principles, legislation, control tools and technologies, and strategies for controlling and eradicating Invasive Alien Species (IAS), illustrated with examples of management from Japan, New Zealand and around the world.

Phil COWAN

Research Associate, Landcare Research (Wildlife Ecology & Management), New Zealand

Tohru IKEDA

Professor, Department of Regional Sciences, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Phil COWAN

G 089 Philosophy Introduction to Enactivism: Moving to Know, Knowing to Move

August 5 - August 9

The aim of this course is to give an introduction to enactivism by lectures and experimental practices.

Tom FROESE

Faculty member, Institute of Applied Mathematics and Systems Research, National Autonomous University of Mexico, Mexico

Masatoshi YOSHIDA

Assistant Professor, Department of Developmental Physiology, National Institute for Physiological Sciences

Shigeru TAGUCHI

Professor, Department of Ethics and Applied Ethics, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Tom FROESE

G 096 Logic Introduction to Logic 2019

August 13 - August 17

Logic is a basic tool for evaluating a reasoning. A given reasoning may be evaluated in terms of truth of a sentence or correctness of the use of logical vocabulary. From these two perspectives, this course provides basics of propositional, first-order and modal logics.

Katsuhiko SANO

Associate Professor, Department of Philosophy, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Tomoyuki YAMADA

Professor, Department of Philosophy, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Katsuhiko SANO

G 099 Contemporary Philosophy Dynamic Epistemic Logic and its Applications 2019

August 19 - August 23

Dynamic epistemic logic deals with dynamic changes in the cognitive states of agents brought about by their interactions. We discuss the model updating techniques that make this possible, the resulting logics, and their applications to other branches of logic.

Hans van DITMARSCH

Senior Researcher, Lorraine Research Laboratory in Computer Science and its Applications, Centre national de la recherche scientifique, France

Katsuhiko SANO

Associate Professor, Department of Philosophy, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Tomoyuki YAMADA

Professor, Department of Philosophy, Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University

Hans van DITMARSCH

Graduate School of Letters / Faculty of Letters
Hokkaido University

-
- A scenic landscape of Hokkaido, Japan, featuring a vast field of colorful flowers (red, yellow, purple, and pink) in the foreground, a small town in the middle ground, and rolling green hills and mountains in the background under a blue sky with white clouds.
- Collaboration with world-leading researchers and HU faculty members
  - Special programs you can experience only in Sapporo
  - Spend a pleasant and comfortable summer in Hokkaido
  - Tuition Fee is Free for students of HU's partner institutions

More Information about the Graduate School of Letters, Hokkaido University:
<https://www.let.hokudai.ac.jp/en/>